

Second Clinician in

Equine Internal Medicine (Dipl. ECEIM/ACVIM)

The department of equine internal medicine, Pferdeklinik Leichlingen GmbH, in Leichlingen, Germany, invites applicants for a clinical position in equine internal medicine.

The Pferdeklinik Leichlingen GmbH was founded in 2011 and is now one of the biggest equine clinics in Germany. The clinic employs over 80 people, amongst them 17 veterinarians and 45 technicians in the services orthopedics, surgery, radiology, and internal medicine and provides their customers with an overall service in equine medicine.

The barn contains 16 stalls in the intensive care unit, 6 stalls in isolation, and 56 stalls for orthopedic and medicine patients.

Applicants must hold a DVM or equivalent degree and a Diplomate in the European College of Equine Internal Medicine, or a Diplomate in the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine (Large Animal) or eligible to obtain diplomate status at the time of appointment.

The successful candidate will be working close together with our internal medicine clinician (DACVIM/DECEIM) and the other members of the medicine team, and will be committed to maintaining a high quality equine clinical service, building case load and providing excellent communication to our clients and referring veterinarians. Training of a resident and participation in Journal Clubs will also be part of the duties. The applicant has to be fluent in German and ideally English. Salary will be commensurate with the applicant`s experience and qualifications. The start date is negotiable.

Screening of applicants begins immediately and continues until a suitable applicant is identified. Questions regarding the open position or search process should be directed to Dr. Matthias Krebs (M.Krebs@pferdeklunik-leichlingen.de), one of the owners of the clinic.
