

6th ECEIM Resident Summer School goes virtual

Vetmeduni Vienna July 13th-17th, 2020

Under the current exceptional circumstances, we are happy to announce that this year's ECEIM Resident Summer School will be organized as a virtual event! Recorded lectures on endocrinology, clinical pharmacology, clinical pathology, multi drug resistant organisms, adult critical care and other topics will be available at your convenience starting from the middle of June. In addition to the recorded on demand lectures, participants will benefit from the live, online discussions with speakers during the week of 13 - 17 July 2020. The detailed online programme will be available on the ECEIM website soon.

A full day will be dedicated to exam preparation for ECEIM candidates, organised by members of the Exam Committee.

In order to encourage an exchange of knowledge and ideas, residents enrolled with other EBVS colleges are invited to join this unique event. We aim to make the 2020 Virtual Summer School a memorable one, with plenty of opportunity to get to know fellow participants and speakers. Since participants will unfortunately not have the privilege to explore the charming capital of Austria with us in person, we include some lovely images of Vienna! There will also be a small surprise for you 😊👉

We are looking forward to welcoming you to this unique virtual experience!

If you cannot attend the live sessions during the week of the Summer School, but would like to have access to the recorded lectures, please also register for the Summer School (see information below).
