

Department of Veterinary Medicine - Equine Clinic, Free University of Berlin, Berlin, Germany

Veterinarian (postdoc) (m/f/d), senior assistant in equine intensive care unit, full-time employment, permanent position, salary group 14 TV-L FU

Identification: Veterinarian SoMi permanent position

The equine clinic invites applications for a Senior assistant in intensive care medicine

Responsibilities

- Participation in the emergency service (on-call service, telephone support)
- Participation in teaching, research and services at the clinic for horses in all specialist areas with a focus on internal medicine
- Independent patient care
- Point of contact for assistants and technical personnel in the emergency service
- Guidance for vets (interns), paramedics, TMFA's and students
- Ensuring documentation and quality of medical care
- Prepare the shift handover of the patient animals in writing
- Preparation of discharge reports
- Invoicing
- Basic interest in quality assurance and academic self-administration

Recruitment requirements

- Approval and doctorate as a veterinarian, several years of practical experience in the field of equine internal medicine
- German language

Additionally desired

- Specialist veterinary training (or in the final), i.e. Equine Medicine, DipECEIM
- Experience in the care of emergency patients
- reliable knowledge of the interpretation of laboratory results
- Knowledge of clinical hygiene and infection prevention
- Interest in the internal diseases of horses including eye and foal diseases
- High motivation for service; high degree of resilience, reliability and willingness to perform
- Organization and participation in further education and training programs
- Experience/ interest as well as commitment and motivation in student training in theory and practice
- Experience and interest in scientific work (implementation/supervision of research projects/doctoral students), Willingness to take on tasks in the field of operational and teaching organization
- Communication skills and ability to work in a team
- Very good language skills in German and English

Applications should be sent electronically by e-mail to Prof. Dr. H. Gehlen: heidrun.gehlen@fu-berlin.de or by post to:

Free University of Berlin Department of Veterinary Medicine, Clinic for horses, general surgery and radiology Prof. Dr. H Gehlen, Oertzenweg 19 b, 14163 Berlin (Düppel)