

Internal Medicine Specialist – Sussex Equine Hospital

We are looking for an internal medicine specialist to join our supportive team of international specialists. This position is initially offered as an 18-month position with the possibility of long term if the successful candidate integrates well in the team and contributes to the further expansion and development of the internal medicine service.

The job entails all aspect of internal medicine with a varied case load including adult and neonatal intensive care. We have a large population of professional and pleasure clients. The job will involve caring for in-patients, day cases and emergency admissions. Alongside this providing internal medicine support to our experienced ambulatory team and external vets and the further development of our in-house lab.

The successful candidate will be working alongside specialists in internal medicine (Natasha Jocelyn), equine surgery, reproduction and equine sports medicine. The hospital is very well equipped for all areas of internal medicine and diagnostic imaging including resting and exercise endoscopy, radiology, ultrasound, MRI and CT. Clinicians are supported by a highly skilled nursing team, hospital-based interns. The in-house purpose-built laboratory offers a wide range of techniques and is supported by a number of highly qualified technicians. We are excited to welcome a new specialist member into our team. This represents an exciting opportunity to contribute to the expansion and further development of the internal medicine department in our referral hospital.

Applicants should be eligible to work in the UK and either boarded (ACVIM/ECEIM) or eligible to sit boards.
